9 JERRY PEART
(American, b. 1941)

Jerry Peart, a native of Winslow, Arizona, came to Chicago in 1972. The year he received his MFA from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Attracted by a thriving community of sculptors that included John Henry, Richard Hunt, and Steven J. Liry, Peart decided to stay in Chicago when Liry asked for his help on a project. In 1978, Peart helped found Construct Gallery, which promoted large-scale public sculpture through exhibitions until it closed in 1985.

Peart works on a monumental scale. Frequently outdoors and often in an urban setting, his large welded and painted sculptures are site specific. The subjects are often figurative and suggest, through the juxtaposition of materials and form, both the industrial and the organic. Peart places his sculptures directly on the ground to eliminate any barrier between the observer and the artwork. People climb, play, or simply rest upon many of his public pieces nationwide.

Peart unites geometric and organic forms to create energy and movement. Asymmetrical shapes were complex compositions that shift with each vantage point. Light bouncing off smooth surfaces enhances the dynamism of a work. Works may be monochromatic, but Peart frequently combines colors to establish a mood and animate a subject.

Heap La Ca was commissioned by Oakton Community College students. Peart, who taught an art class at Oakton in the 1970s, dedicated this sculpture to a crucial stage of young adults: being in and out of school. Alpha and Omega: Small Sculptures and Models by Jerry Peart was the title of a Koehnline Gallery exhibition in 2005.

10 JAMES McNEILL MESPLE
(American, b. 1903)

James McNeill Mesple studied in Chicago at the School of the Art Institute and Northwestern Illinois University, as well as the University of Missouri, Columbia. He developed an interest in classical mythology during summers spent with his Chagall grandfather, who shared with the young boy Native American tales of nature and animals. The "Battle of the Cosmos," a struggle between good and evil, is a theme that inspires many of Mesple's paintings. His work reflects man's quest to obtain spiritual enlightenment and creative freedom, and captures the spirit of Dionysus who, throughout history, has symbolized unyielding strength that results in oppression.

Inspired by the artistry of the Middle Ages, Mesple mixes his own pigments to create colors. "Before oil paints, artists mixed crushed stone powder with egg yolk for an elegant finish," he explains. Called monochrome, this process was used to cover the casquets of mummies in ancient Egypt.

Blue Moonlight

Blue Moonlight
The blue moonlight in the painting reveals blue actors on a stage, inspired from this line of the poem: "A blue parrot, a blue parade made up of an actor, a dancer, a musician, and a traveler, moving forward through life. As their lives evolve (represented by the rising fig), the parade continues, observed from above by a bird perched on the oak trees' uppermost branches."

Koehnline Museum New Archive and Study Room

As part of the west wing renovation at the DP Campus a new Archive and Study Room facility was constructed. The concept behind the plan of this facility promoted the creation of a live storage room that will offer students, visitors, or scholars to access the stored permanent collection. The space is divided to two connected units: storage room and study room. The study room is also utilized as preparation room. The climate controlled storage room is equipped with state of the art storage devices that enable to increase the storage capacity and to professionally conserve the stored objects.

Questions & Recommendations

Should the Collection be on the books or off the books?

Option to include or not is due to college/educational status

On Financial Statements	Off Financial Statements
<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Asset is visible to Directors/Trustees and donors/taxpayers (benefit and drawback based on level of liquidity)● Higher maintenance cost due to need for regular valuation/appraisal● Annual audit testing requirements	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Financial statements aren't overstated by a highly illiquid asset● Appraisal only required if donor seeks charitable consideration for gifts over $5,000● No need for annual audit testing● Most IL community colleges do not include art assets on their statements

Recommendation:

- Continue to carry off the financial statements
- Enhance current policy, procedures, and reporting to ensure fiduciary requirements are being met

Questions & Recommendations

Is the Art Collection adequately insured?

Consultation with Marsh Insurance

- The Collection is insured through the College's policy
- The Collection is not insured at the full replacement value
- Risk assessment of catastrophic loss is determined to be low due to disbursement across campuses

Recommendation

- Maintain the current level of insurance coverage

Questions & Recommendations

Why don't we sell some of the collection's pieces to fund scholarships, programs, or capital improvements?

Review and Findings

- The Association of Academic Museums and Galleries recommends great care in deaccessioning works of art
- Risk institutional reputation when deaccessioning issues arise
- If sale of works is determined to be the best course of action, proceeds should be re-invested in further acquisition or maintenance of existing collection

Recommendation

- Ensure policy addresses deaccession practice

Questions & Recommendations

Is the collection cataloging software adequate, and how can it be visible for use in instruction and by the public?

Review and Findings

- Current cataloging/inventory is recorded in customized Microsoft Access database
 - 3 separate database files are necessary based on size
 - Not internally or publicly available
- Software packages exist for this purpose and are in use by college and university museums for collections
- Current IT priorities focused on larger, enterprise-wide projects

Recommendation

- Defer for future review

Questions & Recommendations

Should the Foundation continue to own the Collection?

Review and Findings:

- Ownership varies by institution, but most often falls under the responsibility of the College - similar to other physical assets
- Gift acceptance and donor relationship remain with the Foundation regardless of ownership
- The Foundation's primary role is donor cultivation, resource development, and stewardship of financial assets

Recommendation:

- Ownership of the Collection should be transferred from the Foundation to the College.
- Foundation should continue to handle gift acceptance, including receipting and stewarding of donors.

Next Steps

- Transfer agreement drafted and reviewed by Foundation and College attorneys
 - Seeking Joint Board approval tonight
- Art Collection Policy
 - Trustee policy drafted in anticipation of ownership transfer; approval expected at tonight's public meeting
 - Foundation will remove Art Collection Policy from their manual
- Foundation will continue to be vehicle for gift acceptance
- Future review of College/Foundation MOU to update based on change of ownership

Thank you

Approval of Agreement to Assign and Transfer Art Collection

Since the inception of the art collection at Oakton Community College, the Educational Foundation has served as the legal owner. During the last year, an art collection committee of college staff and administrators and Educational Foundation Board of Directors, have determined that fiduciary responsibility for the art collection should be transferred from the Foundation to the College for purposes of ownership and ongoing care and maintenance to align with best practices.

The Agreement has been reviewed by both the College's and the Foundation's legal counsel and is the final action needed to complete the official transfer.

JLS:bs
9/2022

President's Recommendation:

That the Board adopts the following resolution:

"Be it resolved that the Board of Trustees of Community College District 535 approves the Agreement to Assign and Transfer Art Collection, attached hereto, between Oakton Community College District 535 and the Oakton Community College Educational Foundation."

OAKTON COMMUNITY COLLEGE EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

FOR APPROVAL

I. SUBJECT

Agreement to Assign and Transfer Art Collection to Oakton Community College.

II. REASON FOR CONSIDERATION

The Foundation has served as the legal owner of Oakton's art collection since the collection began in the 1980s. The collection is divided into three categories:

- Museum Art Collection - focusing on modern and contemporary art created by Chicago area artists and reflecting excellence and educational value through a diversity of genres and aesthetic principles. Works from this collection may be sited in approved common areas throughout the college, stored in the archival area, or loaned as appropriate.
- Teaching Collection - includes items for educational purposes, selected for quality and significance and reflecting different disciplines of teaching such as anthropology, general history, or science. Items from this collection are stored in the archival area and available to faculty, students, researchers, and individuals by appointment
- Secondary Art Collection - includes non-significant art items such as posters and decorative pieces for campus offices. A separate inventory is kept of these items and they are not accessioned into the collections mentioned previously

As of September 1, 2022, the Museum and Teaching Collections consisted of 4,125 objects estimated to be worth about $6.85 million based on appraisals and donor estimate of fair market value at time of accession.

In 2019, Programs Committee commissioned a sub-committee to review this asset to assess if the Foundation is fulfilling its fiduciary responsibility of ownership and role in supporting the College. Lead by Director Joan Richards, the subcommittee engaged representatives from College administration to conduct a thorough review of the process of acquisition, cataloging, maintenance, insurance, financial reporting requirements, and ownership.

Based on their review and with agreement from the College, the Sub-Committee:

- Affirmed the Foundation's role in gift acceptance and donor stewardship. Gift acceptance will continue to follow the joint policy established by the College and Foundation Boards in September 2021.
- Recommends transfer of the Art Collection assets to the College for cataloging/inventory and maintenance. This would be consistent with all other gifts of physical and personal property gifted to the Foundation for use by the College.

As a result, an agreement has been drafted and reviewed by the Foundation's and College's attorneys and is included for review as part of this action.

Additionally, College Trustees have drafted a policy related to the Art Collection in preparation for transfer. This policy affirms the donation acquisition process and also identifies the Foundation's Richard L. Storing Art Endowment as the fund that will benefit from proceeds from any future sale of art. The Storing Art Endowment is dedicated to the acquisition and conservation of artwork in the Oakton collection.

III. RECOMMENDATION

The Art Sub-Committee recommends approval of the Agreement to Assign and Transfer the Art Collection.
